BOND SALES OPEN WITH ADDED VIM

Early Reports Indicate That Nation Has Turned Out
From Coast to Coast.

(International News Service.)
Washington, April 26.—The third liberty loan is rising above the $2,000,000,000 mark today as marching millions of Americans are responding to President Wilson's appeal that liberty day break all records for bond sales. With hardly more than a week for the campaign, the treasury department announced today that the reports are encouraging, as the national total at the close of business April 24 was $1,898,785,050. This is 63 per cent. of the minimum quota of $3,000,000,000.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots. Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any drugist and apply a little of it at night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion. Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles. (Adv.)

total is held out by treasury officials, and the increase is expected to carry several more states and cities over their quotas. Only two districts, Minneapolis and St. Louis, have been accredited with more than 100 per cent. subscription. Kansas City has not been officially accorded 100 per cent., though the district will probably submit its record today supporting its former claim for over-subscription.

Chicago and New York are staging the "steepest" performance of the campaign. Chicago is in fourth place, with more than $300,000,000, and New York still lags at tenth place, with more than $400,000,000, or 52 per cent. of its quota. Individual subscriptions are piling up in both districts, though loan directors say the big banks and heavy subscribers are still holding their purchases in reserve. Eleven districts have gone over the 50 per cent. mark, leaving Atlanta credited with 31 per cent. The Dallas and San Francisco districts are tied with 63 per cent., and Boston is in seventh place with 61 per cent.

St. Louis, which broke all records in subscribing its quota first, has gone ahead for more honor and is claiming total subscribers for the district at 1,000,000. Tennessee is the last state in the district to complete its quota, and the district committee is concentrating on that point to bring the record to 100 all round. St. Louis' work in the campaign has won high praise from the treasury department.

The stigma of defeat hovering over New York has acted favorably and a gain of $24,000,000 was reported in the last treasury total. The state was credited with $411,929,500 and the city of New York with $327,527,950.

The Philadelphia district is forging ahead and has 58 per cent. The district's total was given at $145,542,400, while the city has reported more than $55,000,000. New Jersey has contributed more than $10,000,000 and Delaware more than $5,000,000 to the Philadelphia district total.

Cleveland is reporting splendid returns from the entire district, and Boston is claiming remarkable unity among the people of New England, especially in the drive for individual subscribers. Atlanta and Richmond did not send a detailed report to the treasury, as campaigning in the two districts has grown with increasing sales and added demands of the committees, especially because of the big patriotic demonstrations planning for the day.

Liberty loan posters are being hung down on the Germans today by the aerial forces with Gen. Pershing. A telegram from the general to the liberty loan headquarters tells of the delight which the posters have given the American forces, in assuring them that the folks "back home" are solidly behind them. Thousands have been distributed throughout France, and whenever possible aviators shower them on the civilian population inside the German lines, proving that America is out with her billions of dollars and millions of men to fight the war to a just peace.

REHABILITATION MAIMED SOLDIERS CONCERN BIG BUSINESS AND LABOR, TOO

(By David Lawrence.)
Copyright, 1918, by New York Evening Post Co.

Washington, April 25.—A few days ago brought the news of the first large casualty list of Americans. Many of them are severely wounded, and it is inevitable that there will be many more. What is being done to reclaim and reconstruct the maimed and crippled soldiers—those that cannot be returned to the fighting line in France—is a question that is being asked by big business and labor, too.

Germany answered that question in 1907 by providing a plan that has stood her in good stead. No phase of Germany's preparedness was more emphasized than this, because her war lords know the value to Germany of the rehabilitated soldier. Indeed, the provision of Germany in this respect is often pointed to as confirmation of the imperial government's early expectation of a general European war. Our own government was caught unprepared for war, and reconstruction of wounded men was scarcely thought of a year ago.

Many plans have been submitted in the last twelve months, but unfortunately as yet none have been put into effect. Not long ago the cabinet discussed a proposal to place the entire problem in the hands of the surgeon-general of the army, but objection was made by the secretaries of labor, treasury and agriculture, all of whom have bureaus in their departments which are vitally interested in reconstruction and want a free hand to deal with the matter. The plan was rejected, and the secretary of war asked for another which would harmonize all interests. Accordingly there were gathered together in conference representatives of the United States Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Manufacturers, the American Federation of Labor, department of labor, the department of agriculture, the bureau of education of the interior department, the federal board for vocational education, the United States public health service, the surgeons-general of the army and navy, and the war risk bureau of the treasury department.

All interested in work. All these institutions had to be consulted, because each has an important equity in the work of reconstruction. Big business and American labor both are vitally concerned in the reclamation of our soldiers. They must not only be taught, but given opportunities to pursue professions or complete their education, as the case may be, for many of our wounded left their school and college courses uncompleted to answer the more urgent call of the nation.

The conference agreed unanimously upon a plan which was submitted to the secretary of war for transmission to the president. It proposed the creation of a special board of five, with a director and four outlined specifically ways by which the interests of all the government bureaus could be co-ordinated. Since then Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, has introduced a bill which would give the surgeon-general of the army authority over all the medical work and the rest to be taken care of by the federal board for vocational education.

Five Separate Phases. There are five separate phases, each as important as the other. First comes physical rehabilitation, which is a medical task and should be under the surgeon-general of the army, who should have charge of all the teachers who come into military hospitals, and can easily include the navy, for Secretary Daniels has agreed to permit the wounded sailors to be rehabilitated in army hospitals. Men who are convalescent can be taught in the hospitals, without loss of time, trades and professions. But these teachers must be instructed in dealing with the mental processes of men who have lost their limbs or are seriously maimed. European experience teaches that unless prompt attention is given to this task of re-educating a mind that has deteriorated is almost hopeless. The teachers must be organized and specially instructed. They can be assembled here provided the wounded can be moved back to this country rapidly, but the necessity for a large staff in France is beginning to be recognized as absolutely essential. Reconstruction must be begun the day that consciousness is restored.

Next is the completion in technical schools or colleges of the courses begun in the hospitals. The federal board for vocational education is equipped to train men for trades and mechanical occupations, but the bureau of education of the interior department, which is in touch with the leading colleges and universities, must be relied upon to help those men who originally were matriculated in professional schools and academic courses leading to law, medicine, and the business world.

Third, the department of labor is interested in placing men in the right industries, and from a medical standpoint it is important to determine just what the physical capacity of the individual is for the work selected. There must be the closest harmony with the medical department of the government.

Fourth, the American Red Cross has a function to subserve in preparing the families of the wounded men for their return. Many a parent will want the son back home as rapidly as possible, but the first few months are most important, and when once a maimed soldier is permitted to fall into the habits of a helpless cripple his mind cannot be concentrated again on educational work. The family must be prepared to forgo the privilege of immediate return home, but must assist in the mental stimulus to the individuals who will be quartered in reconstruction hospitals in this country.

Government Vitrally Interested. There is a way to compel the wounded men to pay attention to re-education. The government foresees this in the war risk bill, for compensation can be withheld until an individual is released from the reconstruction hospitals. The government is vitally interested not merely from the point of view of putting back into industry and business a reconstituted individual, but because, if left to himself, he would become a public charge or a burden on the family, without productive power.

Hundreds of wounded Americans have already been brought to this country, and the public ought to be acquainted with what is being done for their care. Unfortunately, there are less than 2,000 beds available. England has a minimum surplus of 50,000.

Of course, America has been expecting to commandeer hotels in summer and winter resorts to get sufficient beds. The general staff is understood to be opposed to the expenditure of money for new hospitals, but will have to come to it sooner or later, just as Canada did, after three years of experimentation with the idea. Indeed, Canada has built what are known as "colony hospitals."

Obviously, if the wounded were scattered in numerous hospitals throughout the country, there would not be enough medical specialists to give expert treatment to men who have different kinds of injuries. By building colony hospitals, a man whose vision is impaired, for instance, could be helped in that respect at the same time that another set of physicians or teachers assisted him to overcome another disability. While the percentage of these men with double injuries may be small, no expenditure ought to be withheld that would aid even a comparatively few men from being fully restored to the industrial and social community.

What is needed in the whole problem is a centralization of control in the hands of three or five big men, who specialize on the problem and dovetail all its pieces. The same efficiency that is sought in training a soldier to fight ought to be applied in re-claiming him for the community out of which he was expelled. This is due not merely to society but to the men who risked their lives that civilization might be preserved.

WANTS TO CLEAR RECORD OF NONPARTISAN LEAGUE

A. C. Townley, President, Requests Permission to Appear Before Senate Committee.

(International News Service.)

Washington, April 25.—Members of the senate were interested today over the prospects of clearing up the semi-mystery of the Nonpartisan league.

For several months members of congress have felt the strong pressure of the Nonpartisan league on many measures, particularly on measures pertaining to agriculture. There has never been clear and definite position taken, however, and members are somewhat in the dark over what the Nonpartisan league really is. There have been inferences made on the floor of both chambers which reflect against the Nonpartisan league, and it has been stated that this organization is working hand in hand with other organizations which are recognized as opposed to the government. Again and again these charges have been made, but the league has been represented as merely an organization of farmers working for their own interests. Now the opportunity has come for congress to learn definitely the purposes and aims of the Nonpartisan league. A. C. Townley, president of the league, has asked that he be given a hearing in order that he may refute a charge made before the senate military affairs committee "that a member of the Nonpartisan league is a traitor." Townley alleges that Judge John McGee, of Minnesota, made this statement, and he has asked that he be given an opportunity to testify as to the loyalty of the members of the league.

Senator Chamberlain had closed the hearings on his bill to establish courts-martial for sedition trials, but will reopen the hearings. Some members of the senate are anxious to be seen concerning the political activities of his organization. At the present time the league is very active in the Minnesota primaries, and members of the senate are anxious to learn whether they have in the Nonpartisan league what is in effect a new political party.

Freckles and Blisters Are Easily Peeled Off

If you are bothered with any cutaneous blemish, it's a poor plan to use paint, powder or anything else to cover it up. Too often this only emphasizes the defect. Instead, it's much easier to remove the disfigurement with ordinary mercurized wax. Applied nightly, the wax will gradually remove freckles, pimples, moles, blotches, liver spots, sallowness, red blotches or any surface eruption. The affected cuticle is actually absorbed a little each day, until the clear, soft, youthful and beautiful skin beneath is brought wholly to view. Ask the drugist for one ounce of mercurized wax and use this like you use cold cream. Remove in the morning with soap and water. Many who have tried this simple, harmless treatment report astonishing results. (Adv.)

The Joy Of Coming Motherhood

A Wonderful Remedy That is a Natural Aid and Relieves the Tension.

The expectant mother revolves in her mind all we understand by destiny. And it is of the utmost importance that her physical comfort be our first thought. There is a most splendid remedy for this purpose, known as Mother's Friend. It is applied over the muscles of the stomach, gently rubbed in, and at once penetrates to relieve strain on nerves, cords and ligaments. It makes the muscles so pliant that they expand easily when baby arrives and pain and danger at the crisis is naturally less.

Mother's Friend is for external use only, is absolutely safe and wonderfully effective. It enables the expectant mother to preserve her health and strength and she remains a pretty mother by having avoided the suffering and danger which would otherwise accompany such an occasion. Every nerve, muscle and tendon is thoroughly lubricated. Mother's Friend is prepared by the Bradfield Regulator Co., 3174 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. They will mail you an intensely interesting "Motherhood Book." Write them to send it to you, and in the meantime send or phone to your drugist today for a bottle of Mother's Friend. Every woman should add nature in her glorious work. Mother's Friend makes it possible for you to do so, and should be used regularly, without fail, night and morning. (Adv.)

MRS. BINKLEY GAINS 22 POUNDS

Husband's Friend Recommended Tanlac.

She Had Suffered for Eighteen Long Years.

"I Want Everybody to Know
What Tanlac Did for Me,"
She Declares.

"I only weighed ninety pounds and had suffered for eighteen years when I started taking Tanlac, and here I am well again and weighing one hundred and twelve pounds," said Mrs. J. W. Binkley, wife of a well-known carpenter, residing at 5104 Illinois avenue, Nashville, Tennessee, some time ago. "It would be mighty hard to describe my sufferings for the last eighteen years," she continued. "I had to live on the very lightest foods. Even milk would sour on my stomach and form gas that would keep me in misery for hours. I had no strength left hardly, and although I tried the best treatments I could find, I kept going down hill and suffering agonies until I was finally told I would have to be operated on, and even then there wasn't much hope."

A good friend of my husband persuaded him to get a bottle for me, and it was the very best of advice, and I've taken eight bottles so far. Well, it not only saved me from the operating table, but I went up from ninety pounds to a hundred and twelve—a gain of twenty-two pounds—and I can eat country ham and onions or anything else I want without any trouble afterwards, and I am feeling just fine. I want everybody to know what Tanlac did for me."
